DICK MERRILL, JACK LAMBIE, CROSS OCEAN

Miss. Gabrielle Mellet, well-known French-Canadian pianist from Quebec, who is equally famous in Paris and London, is to appear in the Empire Broadway. She is a niece of the late Judge Dumont of Montreal. Miss Mellet played at Lady Lever's house in London on April 21st for the Canadian Music Club.

CROYDON AIRDROME.
May 10—The United States coronation fliers, Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, landed at Croydon at 6:38 p.m. (10:38 a.m. M.S.T.), to complete the eastward leg of an ambitious trans-oceanic flight that may put them back in New York by Thursday.

They had landed first at North Wood airfield, 15 miles outside London, to repair damaged wireless apparatus and then sped on to land here 21 hours, two minutes after the takeoff from Floyd Bennett field in New York Sunday.

A large crowd greeted them upon their arrival.

The pair planned to pick up pictures of Coronation and fly back to New York after the ceremony Wednesday.

Neither showed the slightest sign of fatigue.

Merrill popped out of the plane first and was rushed by a woman admirer who planned three re-rounding later. He took some minutes to remove the lipstick and to reveal it was a "pretty tough trip."

"We flew blind the entire way," he asserted.

Both fliers said they felt fine and expected to land back in New York Thursday.

The first land they saw, Merrill said, was the English coast of Ireland. An air ministry official greeted the flyers and gave them a "magnificent grant, permission to fly anywhere they desire while in the country."

They completed the flight by landing at Croydon at 6:38 p.m. (10:38 a.m. M.S.T.).

The pair took off from Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, Sunday at 11:15 a.m. (12:15 p.m. M.S.T.).

They had hoped to reach Croydon in 18 hours, compared to Merrill's time on a flight with Harry Richman, eight days and 17 hours 45 minutes.

Each day the fliers radiated about 200 miles, and they flew for 100 miles off the Irish coast and would reach Croydon around 2 p.m. (6 a.m. M.S.T.).

Council To Consider
Proposed Project At 96
Street, C.N. Tracks

Construction of the proposed subway at 96 street and the C.N.R. tracks would cost $358,500, the C.N.R. board of directors has decided, according to a report prepared by city Engineer A. W. Haddow. This cost will be considered by council at its regular meeting Monday night.

Council has not yet made any definite decision on the proposed subway, but the project has been several times discussed.

At the present level crossing in 1933 city council decided to build a subway at 96 street, and the city's financial position.

City Engineer states that the board of railway commissioners contributed $100,000 from the grade.

Ethiopia Setting For Italian Opera

Florence. May 10.—An opera company by Alfredo Castella, based on the Italian-Ethiopian war, will be presented Saturday in the Teatro Comunale here.

Castella is well-known in North America and particularly in Boston where he has been for many years. He called his opera "The Desert Attempted." The action, pointed by the Libretto Corrado Pavolini, is symbolic and celebrates the Italian-Ethiopian war.

CHURCHES HOLD SERVICES FOR CROWNING DAY

Citizens Offer Prayers For King George and Queen Elizabeth

Bishop A. C. Hargrett, who presided at all saints' cathedral that the devoted prayers of all citizens breathe like a sweet benediction round the emperor well-beloved King and Queen, formed the theme of impressive coronation services at all leading churches Sunday.

Julian voices lifted in anthems of praise and thanksgiving rang out from massed choral voices singing marked the grand climax of services sponsored by the various communities. Churches were aptly decorated in honor of the solemn occasion.

At St. Joseph's Cathedral Sunday night Roman Catholics paid solemn tribute to the emperor and invoked upon the blessings of a long reign glorified by the victories of peace. Monsignor Leo Neiligan and Archbishop J. H. Macdonald were the speakers at the beautiful service.

EDMONTON TO DECAY

Selecting the significance of the coronation as the subject of his first sermon. First Presbyterian Church, Dr. J. Scott Macdonald, principal of Montreal Presbyterian College, and occupant of the church pulpit for the summer months, addressed a large congregation on the duties of a monarchy subject to change but immune to decay.

Edmonton Baptists crowded First Baptist Church Sunday morning as a pastor, Rev. Charles G. Smith spoke on "God Save The King." Patriotic songs blended with deep-seated religious hymns as the congregation rejoiced at the imminent coronation of the commonwealth's king and queen.

MEANING OF CORONATION

Addressed by members of the Loyola Orange Lodges, Junior Orange Lodges, and the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Society, services at McDougall United Church sustained the tradition of the city's pioneer church by observing with due solemnity the religious meaning of the coronation. Rev. A. K. McMillan preached the sermon.

"May our King and Queen have long and glorious reign, graced with peace and truth, and devoted to the benefit of the great empire over which they are now called upon to rule," said Bishop Hargrett in his Sunday morning sermon at All Saints Cathedral.

Revering in detail the events which will take place on Coronation Day in London, Bishop Hargrett stressed the immemorial traditions woven around the ritual, and recalled the coronation and binding nature of the various oaths administered "until the trumpet sound." Significant of the deep religious value of the ceremony, he added, was the central part taken by Archbishop of Canterbury and Archbishop of York.

SPIRITUAL NATURE

"It is well for us to realize the spiritual nature and significance of this hallowing or consecration of our King. This coronation ceremony cannot take place in the palace or other royal building but only in a place dedicated specifically to the worship of God. Westminster Abbey, shrine and symbol of imperial glory, will be the scene of the coronation."

"Central ceremony of the coronation is the anointing of the King. The Archbishop of Canterbury performs this ceremony. On the King's head and on the palms of both his hands rests the form of a cross as he kneels before the archbishop and is solemnly blessed by him."

PLEDGE BY KING

Running through the entire ritual is the repeated pledge given by the King to respect law, honor justice and govern all his judgments with the divine attributes of mercy. The power for peace and equity flows from the noble background against which the pagantry of Empire and coronation of a monarch are placed, he indicated.

Other stirring episodes in the coronation ceremony explained by Bishop Hargrett included the homage extended the newly-crowned King and Queen by lords spiritual and temporal and all the estates of the realm; the sacred oath taken by the King, with head uncovered and hand upon the Bible, to respect his covenant with all his people and the roasting sacrifice of "God Save King George Long Live King George" which bursts from the crowd as the magnificent coronation services cease.

Services at All Saints Cathedral were those specially commended by Archbishop of Canterbury and York.

At the morning service, Hon. J. C. Brown, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, representative of the senate, legislature, city and university were present. Canon E. Pierce-Goulding, rector of the church, presided the evening service. The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire attended the service and joined in worshiping fifteen standards of primary and secondary schools were carried in the procession.

Burying her name in the rain-soaked earth of the naval flying field at Lakehurst, N.J., after a terrific explosion in mid-air had torn her apart and enveloped her giant structure in a sheet of flame, Germany's mighty queen of the skies, the disaster Hindenburg, ended her first trans-oceanic crossing of 1937 in a sense of horror that left a death toll of 35 with several others so badly injured they were not expected to survive. These scenes show the Hindenburg's huge end. Torn and broken from the explosion the flaming craft is pictured here as it plunged into the earth with flames licking from her torn envelope and spilling from her upturned

RELIEF MONEY

Information given out at Ottawa is that the Dominion will reduce relief restrictions from about $45,545,000 to $37,780,000, a cut of $7,765,000 from the figure for last year. Taking in $2,770,000 from the provinces and $2,770,000 paid for employment of idle men on railway work, the reduction from last year's total is 30 per cent.

Grants to the provinces for direct relief are to be cut from $20,000,000 to $14,500,000. The balance, of more than $22,000,000, will go to assist provinces and municipalities in carrying on public works providing employment for idle men.

This shifting of the emphasis from doles to work projects will be heartily welcomed. The reduction in the total allocation for relief purposes is another matter. In the western half of the Dominion at large, unemployment is about as serious a problem as it was a year ago, and in some sections it is even more serious. It is better able to bear the share of the cost they have been bearing. The position of the municipalities is reflected in the demand of Alberta mayors that the Dominion assume the entire cost of relief, and that as an immediate measure it take on 80 per cent of the cost.

In what proportion the direct relief will be divided among the provinces is not yet known. A heavy reduction will not doubt be made in grants to the eastern provinces, since the industrial heart of the Dominion is there, and the situation there. Even allowing for that, the four western provinces are apparently to have the full swing on no more, perhaps less, federal money for direct relief than they had last year.

There will be an easing of the problem here if the bulk of the $22,000,000 for relief works are put in the west. Otherwise, the municipalities and provinces will have to face a continued heavy demand for direct relief, with no more—perhaps somewhat less—federal assistance in meeting the demand.

The depression may be over, but the western taxpayer can't see it.

Sick Gall Bladder or Sick Stomach?

It is amazing how often the patient who thinks he has a sick stomach really has a sick gall bladder. It is a very natural that the one having repeated attacks of indigestion would think the trouble is arising in the stomach and would therefore blame this organ for his difficulties. However, digestive disturbances may be due to gall bladder disorders than to stomach disorders.

The obliging tendency of the stomach to report trouble arising in some other part need not lead a surgeon to remark: "The stomach is the fire alarm clock." The fire alarm clock, a fire is somewhere else." In patients having a history of chronic, recurring attacks of digestive distress, it will be found that the most common cause of such attacks is some form of gall bladder trouble. Frequently the difficulty is due to the fact that the organ is failing to function well, in which case it is referred to as a "sick" gall bladder.

Some of the early digestive symptoms may be the gall bladder is sick in the following: a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, excessive stomach gas, discomfort through the stomach, a feeling of weight or heaviness, and other symptoms which make the patient say that the stomach is "sour." As a general rule, these signs bear a definite relationship to meals.

Dr. F. McEoy, a physician with a history of chronic, recurring attacks of digestive distress, it will be found that the most common cause of such attacks is some form of gall bladder trouble. Frequently the difficulty is due to the fact that the organ is failing to function well, in which case it is referred to as a "sick" gall bladder.

Some of the early digestive symptoms may be the gall bladder is sick in the following: a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, excessive stomach gas, discomfort through the stomach, a feeling of weight or heaviness, and other symptoms which make the patient say that the stomach is "sour." As a general rule, these signs bear a definite relationship to meals.

Gall bladder troubles are more common in women than in men and are found more often in those who are overweight than in those who are slender. Inasmuch as it takes considerable time for a gall bladder to become sick, the patient is likely to be in the middle-age group.

In the beginning the symptoms are likely to be mild and have a tendency to disappear and then recur. Later on, symptoms may develop which point toward the gall bladder as the possible offender and the patient will then have a feeling of weight or heaviness in the gall bladder region. Some tenderness or soreness may be noted if pressure is brought to bear on the right side of the abdomen. There is a dull, dragging ache in the upper right hand side.

Many times the patient notices that unwise indulgence in a heavy meal, rich in fat, or unusual exercise of a strenuous type, will make the symptoms worse. Fatty foods owe their reputation to the fact that they stimulate the gall bladder.

The gall bladder which does not function well because of inflammation or because of blocked passages may feel better for a while, but it cannot be so healthy well.

Fortunately, in mild cases of gall bladder inflammation and sluggishness, excellent results may be obtained by means of a strict diet, a juice fast. The acid in the fruit juice will stimulate the flow of bile, thus helping to free the congested gall bladder. Once the gall bladder is cleaned out, the patient is able to enjoy a diet which will be a pleasure. The cleansing-out process may be speeded up by having the patient take a mixture of grape-fruit juice and olive oil.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mr. Harold P. asks: "In flavoring cooked vegetables, is it a good plan to use canned milk? We find it more convenient to use the canned milk instead of cream and the children are fond of it. We particularly enjoy vegetable soup when canned milk is added. Is this healthful?"

ANSWER: The canned milk is entirely wholesome when used in cooked vegetables. Generally it is added to the soup in which it comes from the can, but may be diluted with water if desired. Your question is a very common one and I am glad to give you the answer in those who enjoy canned milk as a flavoring for vegetables.

QUESTION: M. F. inquires: "What could cause a perpetually red nose? Although I never touch alcoholic beverages, my nose is a vivid red color."

ANSWER: The most common cause of a reddish discoloration of the nose is auto-intoxication resulting from the use of foods in incorrect combination.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE IVY GREEN

Oh, a dusty path is the Ivy Green,
That crescent, over the hill,
Where the roses are in bloom,
And the ivy is in leaf and gold.
In his cell as lone and cold,
He sits and waits for the dawn,
To see the sun rise over the sea,
And the morning dew on the grass.

He sits and waits for the dawn,
To see the sun rise over the sea,
And the morning dew on the grass,
And the ivy is in leaf and gold.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Several readers have asked for the address of the New York Publishers of the verbatim report of the Anti-Soviet Trotskyite Court trial, to which reference was recently made in this column. The book can be obtained for $1 postpaid from the "Workers Library," Publishers, Box 144, Station D, New York City.

That was a very impressive May parade of United Front Laborists, Socialists and Communists, in Edmonton last Saturday week. The part of it that touched me most was the Canadian war veterans banner in honor of heroes who are serving with the loyalists in Spain. So many of us talk glibly about freedom and democracy, and sing of how we stand on guard for Canada, but here were humble, silent men who had fought years ago against a military autocracy, offering their lives to help save the Spanish people from the tyranny of a foreign Fascist dictatorship.

Well might the poet marvel:
O Youth! O Freedom! How are ye still here,
What humble hands unbar those gates of morn
Which shut the splendours of the New Day burst!

A sight-seer in the crowd volunteered the information, somewhat accurately—I know not how truthfully—that most of the paraders are men and women living on relief. That well may be. If I were living on relief, I'd have been in the front.

Few of them, I fear, had any definite and cohesive knowledge of the manner by which, in this land of promise, they are victims of the system that centralizes the law-making, the railway, railroad-rate making and money-creating powers of the nation in eastern Ontario. They know how the law-making system works, but they know they are feeling the pinch of unemployment and the exploitation of the poor.

A pity that these parade tactics, because in all our western cities could be brought before the public eye, are so common in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. So few of them read history or ponder on the future.

I've been reading the life of Richard Carile—a man who lived liberty so much that he spent most of his adult life in English prisons. His portrait in the National Gallery in London shows him a man of courageous mind.

Carile's first efforts were for publishing "Principles of Reason" and Palmer's "Principles of Nature."

Like Palmer, the publisher was a Deist. Palmer (Rev. F. T. Palmer) was a Unitarian minister who was imprisoned for his religious views, and was later sentenced to imprisonment for his religious views.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of the Edmonton Bulletin

The federal expenditure on buildings in the North West for the year ending April 30th amounted to $85,000. For the information of the curious, it may be mentioned that of this amount $77,000 was to the improvement of Mr. Dewdney's real estate in the shape of the public buildings at Regina. As it is well known the site of Regina is not conducive to the health of its inhabitants. It is utterly flat, with heavy clay soil and no good water. Whether the buildings were erected by the official class or in a better location or not is not a matter of supreme concern. If they do not like the situation they can move. More than $10,000 has been expended since a jail and lunatic asylum in Regina during the year mentioned. That such institutions should be located on such an unhealthy site for purely speculative purposes is a grave scandal, and is a good specimen of the style in which North West affairs are administered.

HIGH DEGREE RECOMMENDED FOR STUDENT

George Sydney Field Will Receive Doctor Of Science Award

Highly earned academic degree that the University of Alberta can bestow—the degree of Doctor of Science—has just been recommended for one of its most distinguished graduates, George Sydney Field, B.Sc., M.Sc., in Engineering Physics. By the recommendation committee on graduate studies met last week, it was decided that the degree which will sit Thursday, the degree will be conferred at the forthcoming Commencement, Friday, May 14.

Mr. Field, 42, is academically, certainly a product of Edmonton educational institutions. He was born in Scotland in 1890 but came to Edmonton with his parents while still young and matriculated at Edmonton Technical school. Going on to the University in 1912, he obtained first class general standing for each of the first three years of his Applied Science course and was awarded in May, 1916, with the degree of Bachelor of Science. He has been in contact with the University ever since.

IN RESEARCH WORK
Since 1920 he has been engaged by the Canadian National Research Council in Ottawa, working and supervising research in the field of R. W. Boyle, formerly dean of the University of Alberta, and has been engaged in various original researches in the field of ultra-sound, or short wave sound.

Mr. Field is the first graduate of the University of Alberta to be recommended for the degree of Doctor of Science which has been conferred on two previous occasions in the history of the university. The first time was in 1924 when it was conferred as an honorary degree upon Dr. W. F. Ferrie, formerly of the Geological Department of the University of Toronto, who assisted with the organization of the University Department of the University of Alberta.

CONFERRED ON OTHER TIME
The other time was in 1924 when it was conferred as an earned degree upon J. B. R. Hume, who took his medical doctor's degree from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and then came to Edmonton where he took his undergraduate work at the University of Alberta. Dr. Hume was of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees conferred.

George Sydney Field is the son of James Field, of 1934 60 avenue.

SAFE-CRACKERS FOILED AGAIN

Safe-crackers who have been victimizing Edmonton business concerns for the past few days, striking with clock-like regularity on Saturday night, were foiled in their latest attempt to break into the safe of Kerrison and Adams, florist at 1014 10th street.

The arrival of Charlie Grey, special night watchman.
Grey was making his rounds at 4:15 a.m. Sunday morning when he noticed the safe of Kerrison and Adams was being struck with a heavy object. He immediately called the police and the safe was opened.

Grey summoned Constable O'Connell, who investigated and could find no trace of the reagent. There was no evidence of a break-in, and it is believed that the thieves had hidden themselves in the greenhouse early in the evening while employees of the store were busy. Several men, including Mr. Shaw and Detective Percy Appleby and Alex. Stevenson, of the city police force, investigated.

Dr. Scott MacKenzie Welcomed Sunday

Largely congregations greeted Dr. Francis Scott MacKenzie, principal of Presbyterian Church, when he arrived at the church on Sunday morning, as he delivered two sermons at First Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning.

Dr. MacKenzie, who is now in charge of the church, has been in Edmonton for some time. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and has been in the ministry for many years.

Brigadier Bogart's Visit Postponed

Brig. J. L. Bogart, C.M.G., of the 18th, who was to have spent the weekend in this city, found it necessary to postpone his visit until he could be accompanied by his wife and children. He is expected to visit again in the near future.

400 ST. JENNIES ADDRESSED BY KERR HEAD

Dr. W. A. R. Kerr Delivers Baccalaureate Address On Sunday

With four hundred graduating students of the University of Alberta in attendance Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, president of the University, delivered the baccalaureate address in Convocation Hall Sunday evening.

Dr. Kerr chose as the theme of his address the quotation "The race is not always to the swift or the battle to the strong; and there are instances in which the weaker side has prevailed." He stressed the importance of the individual in the face of the world.

TRAVELERS CARRY THEIR OWN PILLOWS

Visitors From Copenhagen To Visit Relative In Grimshaw, Alta.

Macdonald hotel bellhops who handed their baggage when they arrived here Monday morning could tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, of Copenhagen, Denmark, are experienced world travelers.

Mrs. Wilson betrayed this to the bellhops when she walked into the hotel carrying her own pillow, handbag with thousands of dollars in it, and a suitcase full of travel necessities.

Mrs. Wilson is a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, and is a member of the Danish Red Cross. She is a well-known social worker and has been active in many charitable organizations.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

A Fine Art

Masterpieces

Consider Henrich!

THERE is a wide to baseball that you have ever heard about. Of a better name, you can find it go under the moniker of "topographical." It consists in the fine art of tailoring a ball park to fit the home team, this often being cheaper than buying players who happen to fit the park. By checking closely on the way his team performs, a manager can often make a few almost unnoticeable changes in his park that will practically insure him of winning the bulk of the games played there.

For example, there are stories that John McGraw ruled the ground along the base line so that his infield was saucer-shaped. His team were all good bunters and this saucer effect made their bunting doubly effective.

However, the most ingenious stunt charged against McGraw in that he stuffed powdered soap into the dirt around most of the pitcher's mound. Men hurling against the giants would rub their sweaty hands in the dirt to dry them for a firm grip, but instead they got a fine soap film on their palms that resulted in many balls and wild pitches. The giant pitchers, however, were told where the powdered soap was and they rubbed their hands elsewhere.

Then last year, for example, the ground crew in the Boston Red Sox park always sprinkled the left half of the infield with water so as to slow it down for Joe Judge at short. Connie Mack, the old manager of the White Elephants, has urged topography more than once to good advantage. When he had Lefty Grove shooting them across the plate with his magnificent body swing, he had one of the greatest hurling machines in baseball's history, but he decided to make him even more effective. He raised the pitcher's mound to the full 15 inches permitted by the rules. Put Grove's long body on top of that hill and it seemed as if the opposing batters that they were being fired at from the clouds by an India rubber giant. There is much yelping, but repeated checks showed that the mound was strictly according to regulation.

Griffith Submerged Johnson

WHEN Clark Griffith had the great Walter Johnson turning loose his amazing pitching speed, he found himself with a problem altogether different from that of Connie Mack. Johnson needed no topographical help. He was so far ahead of every other pitcher that it just didn't matter any more. However, Griffith's team were weak hitters at that time and, regardless of Johnson's brilliant pitching, they had to get a few hits to win.

Griffith accordingly shaved the pitching mound off even with the rest of the infield. It made no difference to Johnson, but it reduced the effectiveness of the invading pitchers by 30 to 45 percent. When a hurler is used to rearing back on top of the mound and throwing them down in the plate and then suddenly has to pitch on the flat, throwing them more or less uphill, it pretty well wrecks that chucker. The result was that the Washington batters suddenly became hitters—in their home park.

Just now it is reported that Barling Grimm, skipper of the Brooklyn Duffins, is carefully studying all the times his club can hit a ball against the right field corner in their home park. Just now a ball hit against this corner is good for as many bases as the runner can take, but if the Dodgers start hitting it more often than invading teams they Grimm will serve notice that in future any ball hitting this corner is a home run. So far, Heinie Manush has been bounding them off the screen regularly enough, but the rest of the boys have not got the range yet.

Henrich Soft-ball Product

ONE of the oddest and hottest arguments in sportland is that of whether or not softball ruins a boy's chance of ever being a top-notch hard ball player. Most major leagues are profoundly concerned that softball is absolutely ruinous so far as players are concerned. The law of averages bears this out since there has been a marked decline in the number of baseball rookies of real talent who have emerged recently from across Canada and the United States. If you want proof of this, just think of the three bidders in the rookie market today.

Bob Keller gets a $10,000 bonus for signing his name to a contract amounting for a year's play. Ten Henrich, the late Lands made a free agent, was paid a bonus of $10,000 to sign a Yankee contract and is supposed to be drawing around $8,000 salary.

However, the odd angle concerning Henrich is that he is a softball product. The section of Ohio that he comes from goes in for nothing but football and softball. Henrich's folks barred football, so he had to play softball. Then one day the softball league became defunct when the secretary vanished with all the money. Henrich then turned to pro baseball, but it was sometime before he showed anything at all. He was thrown off several clubs as he hoped and then gradually found his batting eye to give promise of being another of the great left-handed sluggers that Jack Ruppert loves to see go to the plate in a Yankee uniform.

Amerks Purchase Services Of Goalie Earl Robertson

Stanley Cup Hero Is Bought For $7,500 and Red Doran

DETROIT, May 10.—Earl Robertson, the rookie who became a hero of the 1937 Stanley Cup finals when he replaced the injured Normie Smith in goal for Detroit Red Wings, has been sold to New York Americans for $7,500 and John "Red" Doran, Manager Jack Adams of the Wings announced last night. It was the only player deal of the annual National Hockey League meeting here.

Robertson, who played with Pittsburgh of the international-American League and Detroit Red Wings farm team most of this season, will replace Toronto's Albie Moore in the American nets. Moore, who was injured in mid-season and Lorne Chabot failed to make the grade.

Doran, 30-year-old defenseman, also played with Pittsburgh this season, on loan from the American League.

Adams put a price tag of $20,000 on Robertson after the modest last shut-out New York Rangers twice.

Dutton Elected Governor As Franchise Taken Over

Americans Become N.H.L. Property; Red To Stay at Helm

DETROIT, May 10.—The New York Americans Hockey Club's franchise has been taken over by the National League. President Frank Calder announced after the annual meeting Saturday night. The Americans will be known as the N.H.L. next season unless a buyer takes the club from the league's hands.

The league operated the club during the season just passed but William B. Dwyer, who was forced to leave the club because of financial difficulties, had until this meeting to exercise his option to reclaim the club from the league.

"We gave the Dwyer interests until April 15 to take up their option to repurchase and they failed to do so," Calder said. "We will operate the team until today's meeting and there was still no offer."

Red Dutton, manager and vice-president of the Americans, was named the new president of the club. He will remain as the club's manager.

The eight teams of the N.H.L. played to 1,238,700 spectators, 125,000 of them in the last season. The league's revenue was $1,238,700. The league's revenue was $1,238,700.

Son of Man O' War Follows Footsteps Of Gallant Daddy

Easily Heads Pompoon and Reaping Reward In Racing Classic; Makes Remarkably Fast Time on Fast Track

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10.—War Admiral, a chip off the old thoroughbred block, ran one of the biggest of Kentucky Derby fields today under hazy skies Saturday afternoon with the second fastest triumph in the 63-year history of the United States' most colorful horseracing spectacle.

The little horse, the son of Man O' War came home from a galloping, just the way his daddy used to, after leading from the start to the finish.

There never was much doubt about the outcome as War Admiral beat Pompoon by two lengths and Reaping Reward by 10 lengths to force a near-record crowd of 65,000 spectators.

RAD BEHAVIOR

Despite such bad behavior at the post that he was largely responsible for a delay of more than eight minutes in the getting away, War Admiral broke on top, soon took command, and made every point a winning one. The colt had plenty of finishing power to stand off the surprise challenge of Pompoon and was never bothered by the ace of Mrs. Robert W. May stable, Reaping Reward, and the "jelly ducking" of the big field of 20 starters.

Illness, which confined him to his Philadelphia home, deprived War Admiral of his usual speed and inflection of seeing his first Derby. He was a real Derby horse, a real Derby horse, a real Derby horse.

War Admiral, in the favorite's role, paid off for each $2 mutual ticket on the basis of $3.50 to win, $2.50 to place and $2.00 to show.

Pompoon, third choice in the betting, broke on top, soon took command, and made every point a winning one. ## One-eyed Horse Wins at Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., May 10.—Eight thousand fans witnessed the return of horse racing to Agua Caliente Saturday and saw San Luis Rey, one-eyed steed, win the six-furlong inaugural handicap in 1:11 1/2.

San Luis Rey paid $4.00, $3.20 and $2.80. St. Stephens, finishing second, paid $2.80 to win, and Min Or, third, $2.00.

George Conway added War Admiral to win the Derby, but you'd never guess he was the United States' most famous trainer. He was found after the race, attired in an old-fashioned suit, sitting on his great War's stall, doing work usually assigned to a stable boy. He was seen on his stallion on taking personal charge of arrangements and making this time.

"Don't, Sylvia!" he fairly shrieked. "What are you trying to say?"
She raised her eyes to his, quietly, and as she saw the anger in his face, she drew back instinctively. For the moment she thought that would strike her.
"Forgive me, Bob," she begged. "It is ridiculous, of course. But that is what the police are saying. I was afraid, when they told you, that you might do something like this. Bob, you must be sensible about this."

"Frightened? Afraid of being accused of murder, you mean?"
Sylvia nodded.
"Don't be a fool, Sylvia," Bob cried roughly. "Why should she be afraid of that?"
"Because—because—" Sylvia broke off abruptly, and moved her eyes to the corner of her handkerchief again. She must tell this tactfully, and—recollectively...
"Because, why? Come on, you might as well tell me the whole story. You've got to know this."

Venus travels an orbit that lies inside that of the earth. Therefore, when she is nearest us, she is directly in line with the sun, and we can see only her dark side. Mars travels an orbit that lies outside our own, and we look away from the sun to see it at its nearest approach, and we see its full lighted face.

Mussolini Views Vast Cavalcade, Delivering Defi

ROME, May 10.—Premier Mussolini marked Italy's celebration yesterday of the first anniversary of the new Roman Empire with a warning to any who may interfere with the "thousands-of-years-old civilizing mission of Italy" in Africa. To mark the day Mussolini gave Rome a tremendous military spectacle.

A year after his proclamation of the new empire, after the conquest of Ethiopia, Mussolini reviewed 40,000 troops marching under the arch of Constantine and past the stand where King Vittorio Emanuele stood with the premier. Nearly 1,000,000 spectators lined the route.

After the review, addressing 6,000 in Venezia Square, Il Duce shouted his warning, coupled with a deft for peace.

"The first anniversary of the new empire," he declared, "is celebrated under a triple sign—of victory, of peace and of war."

"Peace for us and for all, that is, if they want it and will listen to the warning. Peace comes from the deep conviction and self of the people; for as the world is to be made new, it is in Africa the thousands-of-years-old civilizing mission of Italy."

"Guided by the sign of the victor, the people and ready if necessary to overcome all obstacles, present and future, we who have the conscience and determination will fulfill this mission."

FROM ETHIOPIA

The parade started from the coliseum, where an obelisk from Axum, sacred city of Ethiopia, had been erected, just as ancient Romans set up obelisks to symbolize their victories in Africa.

For weeks native troops have been brought from Eritrea, Somaliland, Ethiopia and Libya to camp at the Avenue Heli. In gorgeous uniforms of their own marched before the modern Romans.

In contrast to the native troops were the mechanized forces of the Italian army that run on 200 pieces of heavy and light artillery, 200 tanks, 300 trucks of the last motorized divisions.

LION OF JUDAH

It came yesterday a symbol of Empire in the Piazza Venezia. Square of the 500 in front of Rome's Central railway station.

The symbol was the lion of Judah, emblem of the Nequese of Ethiopia, who once ruled the Nile valley. The lion was the symbol of the Aulid Aulid railway station.

JASPER CHILD IS SLIDE OF DIRT

Fatal Accident To Five-Year-Old Daughter of Hotel Manager

JASPER, May 10.—Nancy Haines, five-year-old daughter of Major J. E. Haines and Mrs. Haines, was killed when she was buried alive under an avalanche of sand and rocks when the ground gave way at the edge of a basement excavation.

The group of children rushed screaming across the road to be rescued. Major J. E. Haines, George and little Nancy, have been residents of Jasper for over a year and that time Nancy had become the prime favorite with both townspeople and visitors.

Previous to taking charge of the Alhambra hotel, Major Haines was prominently connected with veteran affairs in Edmonton.

BILBAO SET UP COUNCIL TO FIGHT REBELS

Basque Government Takes Measures For New Defence

BILBAO, Spain, May 10.—The Basque government of Bilbao, besieged by an insurgent army, set up a defence council today to take over the conduct of the war.

President Jose Antonio of the autonomous Basque government was named head of the council, similar to that set up for Madrid when the siege of the capital began during the early months of the civil war.

The committee includes five high army officers who will be assisted by their own technical assistants.

As a further step toward coordination of the government's military operations in northern Spain, the council will coordinate the various widespread powers as head of the Basque military police forces of the provinces of Asturias, Santander and Vizcaya.

General Emilio Mola's insurgent army met stiff resistance as Basque and Asturian troops, aided by the Basque militia, dug new trenches to strengthen battered defenses of the Basque capital on Spain's northern coast.
